👩 BIG MOLE WITH EVEN BIGGER IMMUNITY

A DERM DIARIES DERMATOLOGY CASE

A 4-year-old girl came to our clinic with a mole she was born with (a congenital melanocytic nevus). Over time, her parents noticed a light ring of skin around the mole. Soon after, new white patches began to show up on her face, chest, and arms—far away from the original mole.

This is a condition called vitiligo associated with a congenital mole. The body's immune system, which normally protects us, can sometimes become overactive and start attacking the pigment cells that give our skin color.

👩 KEY TAKEAWAY

Skin conditions can be a sign of underlying health issues. Consulting a dermatologist is key for proper treatment and evaluation.
