👩 WHEN IT'S NOT CELLULITIS – LIPODERMATOSCLEROSIS IN DISGUISE

A DERM DIARIES DERMATOLOGY CASE

An 80-year-old woman was admitted through the ER for tight, swollen, itchy, and painful lower legs. She had been treated multiple times for “recurrent cellulitis,” with little long-term improvement. This time, her symptoms had worsened over several weeks, prompting hospitalization for evaluation and IV antibiotics.

Dermatology was consulted to evaluate the patient during her inpatient stay and we diagnosed her with lipodermatosclerosis (LDS), a condition often mistaken for infection but requiring an entirely different approach.

👩 KEY TAKEAWAY

Skin conditions can be a sign of underlying health issues. Consulting a dermatologist is key for proper treatment and evaluation.
