CELEBRATING RACHEL!

We recently surprised Rachel with a special celebration. Although she accidentally spotted us before the big reveal, she kindly played along and gave us the perfect “surprised” reaction—making the moment even more memorable!

Many of our patients know Rachel for her compassion, attention to detail, and exceptional clinical skills. She has helped diagnose hundreds of skin cancers, often detecting them at an early stage when treatment is most successful. Her dedication to providing thorough skin examinations and outstanding patient care makes a lasting difference every day.

We are incredibly grateful to have Rachel as part of the Dermatology Solutions family. Congratulations, Rachel, and thank you for all you do for our patients and our team!

A TINY BUMP WITH A BIG DIAGNOSIS – JUVENILE XANTHOGRANULOMA IN A 3-MONTH-OLD

A DERM DIARIES DERMATOLOGY CASE

A sweet 3-month-old baby girl who came to our pediatric dermatology clinic with a small, firm, yellowish bump on her cheek. Her parents noticed it had slowly grown over the past few weeks, but their otherwise healthy infant showed no signs of discomfort. There were no complications during pregnancy or delivery, and her older sibling is unaffected.

Upon clinical examination, the lesion was classic in appearance: a solitary, dome-shaped, well-demarcated papule with a slightly orange hue. A clinical diagnosis of juvenile xanthogranuloma (JXG) was made—one of the most common non-cancerous skin conditions in infants seen in pediatric dermatology.

KEY TAKEAWAY

Skin conditions can be a sign of underlying health issues. Consulting a dermatologist is key for proper treatment and evaluation.
